

Storytelling Schools

Training menu 2015 to 2016

Storytelling Schools is delighted to announce a series of training opportunities for the new academic year dedicated to the whole school approach to using stories to raise standards in literacy.

In a Storytelling School all children become storytellers. Learning to tell stories from memory is an inspiring, engaging and inclusive way to acquire language and discover topic content. The approach is a proven way of raising standards in writing and deepening engagement with learning.

The training sessions cover a range of topics from an induction session for teachers new to the system to sessions covering the teaching of curriculum subjects through storytelling. Sessions will be run by Chris Smith, Adam Guillain, Nanette Stormont and Jules Pottle at Wood Farm Primary School, Titup Hall Drive, Headington, Oxford, OX3 8QQ.

Date	9am to 3.30pm £150	4pm to 5.30pm £35
29 September 2015	Introduction and induction day: Storytelling Schools	An introduction to storytelling and story-making for early years
21 October 2015	Training Skills Course Day 1	An introduction to storytelling and writing
11 November 2015	Storytelling and writing	An introduction to storytelling and non-fiction
20 January 2016	Training Skills Course Day 2	An introduction to story deepening through drama, movement, music and poetry
10 February 2016	Introduction and induction day: Storytelling Schools	An introduction to storytelling and science
16 March 2016	Storytelling and story-making for early years	Storytelling and music
27 April 2016	Storytelling and science	Storytelling and poetry
15 June 2016	Training Skills Course Day 3	Innovation and invention: recycling plots and creating new ones
29 June 2016	Deepening: literacy through drama, music, dance, poetry and art	An introduction to storytelling and history
6 July 2016	Storytelling and history	Introduction/ induction to Storytelling Schools

For more information or to book a place please contact claire@storytellingschools.com or call 01865 748447. Full day sessions booked with accompanying twilight session are available at a reduced rate of £165. Discounts are available for schools booking more than one teacher onto the same course. For more information about Storytelling Schools please see our website www.storytellingschools.com.